

SHIPS THAT PASS IN DAYLIGHT AND DARK

FOREIGN, LOCAL AND COAST STEAMERS AND CRAFT IN THE HARBOR

The Lurline was down on time last night and went up at 7 o'clock, with a big herd of seining horses and mules. She will stay down until 10 o'clock on Friday night and until midnight on Saturday. Captain McCully will dress ship and officers and crew will be in Regatta colors. Tickets for August 27 and 28, will be sold at one and one-third, from all points to Astoria, and return, good to the 31st.

The steamer Eureka arrived in yesterday morning, from Eureka, Cal., and went on to the metropolis, at once.

The Standard Oil fuel steamship Asuncion, from the California coast, crossed in yesterday morning, and went on up the river.

The Della has gone out on a cruise to Nestucca, with a general cargo, and will hale in again in time to make the most of the Regatta.

The fine launch "Ranger," Captain Swing, came in from Coos Bay yesterday morning, and will figure in the Regatta events.

The steamer Shoshone is due down from Portland on her way to California.

The steamer Geo. W. Fenwick is due back in port from the California, on Tuesday next.

The steamer Spencer was on her schedule yesterday and will be, every day this week, Thursday included.

PERSONAL MENTION

GREAT PRAISE IS GIVEN TO NEW ROAD

DRIVE OUT OLNEY WAY IS NOW OF GREAT INTEREST, AS ONE PARTY FOUND.

Everyone who has gone out over the Olney road during the summer months speaks of it in terms of the highest praise. The thoroughfare is smooth and hard, and traveling over it is a pleasure instead of the hardship that it is to go over many of the rough country roads. Many, too, begin now to appreciate the beauties of the winding country road as it cuts its way through the deep green forests, for with comfort and ease in traveling comes the opportunity to observe the beauties of the things that lie along the highways.

On Sunday George W. Lounsberry, accompanied by his family, drove out over the road to Olney, thence over the old road to the north fork of the Clatskanie, and there the party struck a piece of the new Nehalem road, which is also in very fine condition.

After returning to Olney via the Nehalem road, the party drove to Young River falls, where they had luncheon, and then drove across Tucker creek to the Lewis and Clark, and came home via the Lewis and Clark road.

Mr. Lounsberry says the trip was interesting every bit of the way.

"The roads are a credit to the members of the county court and to Clatsop county," he said, "and too much can hardly be said in this praise." Mr. Lounsberry said that apparently there had been an abundant hay crop, as at various places the barns were filled with hay and there were also big stacks alongside the barns or else left out in the fields.

Just what the influence of the magnificent roads in Clatsop county will be remains to be seen, yet they will have a tendency towards developing and enriching the country through which they run may be taken as almost certain. Already there are abundant indications of the influence of the good roads, first of all to be seen in the immediate betterment of farms and farm houses. New lands are being cleared and soon there are sure to be many new homes springing up along the new roads. That bad roads ruin and kill the farming has been demonstrated so many times that it hardly needs further illustration, and yet if it did, most excellent illustration can be given of bad roads and abandoned farms and farm houses right in Clatsop county. The suggestion is also made—and it seems one of more than passing worth—that the Chamber of Commerce should lend its efforts to endeavor to aid in building up the country along the good roads, by diverting newcomers in that direction and in other similar ways. Good roads are an absolute necessity in this county, as in every country where there is a great rainfall, but it seems quite wonderful to contemplate how the whole situation is brightened and bettered by the mere fact of having good roads. A dozen examples of this could easily be given, and first of all they make country life not only endurable but pleasurable; while bad roads make country life a burden to the farmers during the bad seasons.

Mr. Lounsberry also said: "It strikes me that if there were some objective point out that way, say at the falls, where parties could drive to, it would prove an excellent thing. Now there is really no place to go, when you get there. If there was a pavilion, perhaps, or a place for refreshments for man and beast, it might help things along. Of course it must be a nice place or the whole object of it would fail." There really seems to be a need of an objective point of the kind suggested by Mr. Lounsberry, and perhaps if someone were to establish a nice, cosy, little place out at the falls, or at some other pretty spot, it might prove a profitable venture. But if it were to degenerate into merely a "road house" it would probably be better if it were never started.

Married By Justice—

James Mathieson and Miss Mary Carstenson were married by Justice of the Peace Goodman yesterday. They are both residents of Clatsop county. Marriage license was also issued yesterday to A. William Anderson and Miss Helga Marie Horjukoshi.
